

ON THE MOVE

South African Coal Mine Holdings (SACMH) has appointed JSW Energy CFO Pramod Menon to its board as a nonexecutive director with effect from November 16. The appointment follows the Indian group's acquisition of a majority stake in SACMH. Menon has 17 years' experience in project finance, corporate finance, mergers and acquisitions, treasury management and investor relations.

Rare earths group Great Western Minerals has hired Kwaw Kabaah as mine manager at its Steenkampskraal operation, in the Western Cape, where he will be responsible for the management, control and day-to-day operations. Kabaah has worked at Johannesburg Consolidated Investment group Mines, the De Beers group, African Rainbow Minerals' Black Rock mine and at the South Africa Department of Mineral Resources.

World number one gold miner Barrick Gold has appointed Gary Halverson president of its North American business, with Mike Feehan replacing him in his previous role as head of the company's Australia Pacific unit. The move comes as NovaGold Resources announced Halverson's predecessor Greg Lang will be taking over as CEO, as part of a corporate reshuffle that will see it spin off its copper assets.
